JAMES WOOD REPLACES DICK DISNEY AS SPEAKER

MISSOULA--

James H. Wood, Helena, attorney for the Consumer Affairs Division of the Montana Department of Business Regulation, will replace Dick M. Disney, division administrator, as a speaker Thursday, Oct. 7, at the University of Montana.

Disney will be unable to keep the speaking engagement because he is very ill, according to Nils A. Ribí, Hamilton, a UM student who is lecture coordinator for the Program Council of the Associated Students of UM.

Wood will discuss the same topic that Disney was going to discuss, "Consumer Fraud, Protection and Education." The lecture, sponsored by the ASUM Program Council, will be at 7 p.m. Thursday in the University Center Lounge.

Thursday's lecture will be open to the public without charge.

Wood, a 1974 graduate of the UM School of Law, has served the past year with the Department of Business Regulation.
